Teachers love Press Here!

"Press Here by Hervé Tullet is a marvel."
—Teri Lesesne, Professor, Sam Houston State University, Houston, TX

"Not since Harold wandered paper pages with his famous purple crayon have we seen a book that so succinctly captures the essence of childhood imagination . . . Press Here . . . will bring some magic into your classroom."
—Jo McDougall, Northern Territory

"Press Here is delightful . . . A winner with the kids."
—Shelly, Louisville, KY

"Press Here is a marvelous book!"
—Joan, Jamesville NY

"For the child who can't sit still for a story, this is the ideal book . . . There was so much learning on so many levels, and all of it fun—a VERY necessary ingredient. Highly recommended and a fun way to learn to follow instructions."
—Jan Vincent, Wangaratta, Victoria

"[Hervé Tullet's] incredible hands-on approach will ensure that this book . . . will be called for again and again . . . The interaction between reader and audience provides a parent or a teacher with the ideal chance to grow closer to the child and give all participants an amazing journey."
—Jenny Cousens, Hercules Road State School, Queensland

Librarians love Press Here!

"Press Here is a book that kids will have their hands all over."
—Richie Partington, MLIS, richiespicks.com

"Press Here is a captivating book for both adults and young children. It is the perfect book to share with a single child in your lap or to a group as people of all ages cannot help as they are drawn into this colorful, interactive book."
—Ty R. Burns, Director of Library & Media Services, Clear Creek ISD, TX

"I love Press Here! It would work on so many levels: teaching kids left from right, just as a fun game, using your imagination . . . "
—Robin Benoit, Children's Librarian, Fairport Public Library, NY

"What a clever concept and a wonderfully imaginative book!"
—Jerry Jarrell, Librarian, Stone Middle School, Paris, TX

"Press Here is the cleverest kind of picture book, the kind that I wouldn't have been able to resist showing to kids at my libraries last year and the book that would have had kids clamoring to check it out. It's that fun . . . This is a book . . . that I think even a reluctant reader would be thrilled by. It's definitely one I plan to give as a gift over and over again."
—Janssen Bradshaw, Everyday Reading blog

"What a delightful book . . . As a school librarian, I can see how my students will enjoy [Press Here] over and over again."
—Robbie Nickel, Sage Elementary School Library, Sage Creek, NV

"We love, love, love, love, love Press Here!!! . . . Brilliant."
—Miriam Lang Budin, Head of Children's Services, Chappaqua Library, NY

Bloggers love Press Here!

"This is one of those children's books for which you reserve a place of honor on the shelf, next to the Sendak."
—Momfilter.com

"This is a book that will captivate . . . Bravo, Herve Tullet!"
—Cool Mom Picks

"It's a magic trick that never stops giving. It is, I hope, the start of great new things to come with one of the oldest formats on earth."
—Betsy Bird, School Library Journal's A Fuse #8 Production blog

"Clever, simple and handsomely bound, Press Here taps into the power of imagination that gives this printed book a magical oomph you won't find in any iPad app or e-book."
—Ohdeedoh

"Simple in appearance, genius in execution. An interactive book for interactive times, Press Here will please all comers. A must see."
—Travis Jonker, 100ScopeNotes.com

"This is the rare picture book that I feel compelled to carry with me wherever I go. Delightful, simple, and everyone who sees it wants to show it to someone else, to share the magic."
—Pink Me blog

"Press Here uses a charmingly simple concept to keep children coming back for more while building their cognitive skills."
—CoolHunting.com

"Let me be clear—I cannot say enough how much I adore this book . . . Press Here stands out in the crowd."
—5minutesforbooks.com

"Innovative. Forget the ebooks, Press Here is interactive too."
–Small for Big blog

"This book reverses the whole order of how 'moving forward' looks. [Press Here] holds greatness."
—Small Hands, Book Books blog

"Like me, you want fun, interactive books your children will love and read over and over. Press Here is that book . . . one of the most creative picture books I've ever seen in my life. Brilliant! It's absolutely a must-own book."
—imaginationsoup.net

"A wonderful book . . . Loads of fun for the little ones."
—Munchkin's Book Journey blog

"In my opinion, perfect."
—And then . . . blog

"Booksellers and librarians are loving [Press Here] . . . a great read aloud."
—The Dewy Divias & The Dudes blog

"Press Here by Hervé Tullet is everything a children's book should and can be . . . Fun, fresh and brilliantly elegant . . . Press Here reminds us why real ink-and-paper books will never die."
—MyDailyFind.com

"Press Here is not only fun, it teaches color, cause and effect, left and right, and how to follow instructions . . . A great way to encourage imagination! Press Here* is refreshingly simple and unique!"
—My Four Monkeys blog

"A truly interactive book that kids (of all ages) will adore!"
—Muse Reviews blog

"Every time I share this book with someone, I get the same response—smiles, chuckles, and enthusiastic interaction with the book. There are books and then there are books. Press Here* is fun, simple, and brilliantly executed."
—Kid Lit Frenzy blog

chronicle books
A Handprint Book
CHRONICLEBOOKS.COM/PRESSHERE
Art © Hervé Tullet